

Complaining can make things better!

You are entitled to expect good quality health and social care services, and when this does not happen, you have a right to complain. When doing so, here are some tips....

What is your complaint about?

Work out what you want to say and be clear about what happened, who was involved, when, where, why you weren't happy.

Decide what you want to achieve.

Be prepared to tell the service what you would like them to do to put things right.

Complain as soon as you can.

If you can speak to the people involved first, they may be able to sort out your problem quickly.

Contact the service you want to complain about.

Contacting the service directly will make them aware of the complaint.

Ask about the service's complaints procedure.

You may need to complain verbally or in writing. Ask if there is a form to fill in and when you can expect to hear back from them.

Ask for help.

If you struggle with reading or writing, Complaints Advocacy services can help.

Be clear.

Keep your complaint clear and short so your main points stand out.

Include your address and a reference number if you have one.

Also include the date of anything that happened which is important to your complaint.

Write down people's names and positions.

Also keep copies of any letters or emails you get, as you may need to refer to them in the future.

Who do I complain to?

Contact details of complaints departments are listed below.

GPs and Dentists

You can complain either to the practice, or to NHS England (please note that you cannot complain to both). NHS England - 0300 311 22 33 or england.contactus@nhs.net

Hospital (Northwick Park, Ealing, Central Middlesex and St. Marks)

London North West University Healthcare NHS Trust (LNWH) runs local hospitals & community health services. Their Patient Advice & Liaison Service (PALS) offers free confidential help and advice and aims to assist with support and information about your care and provide information on NHS services, listen to your concerns, suggestions or queries and help sort out problems quickly on your behalf. 020 8869 5118 or LNWH-tr.PALS@nhs.net

Mental Health Services

Central and North West London NHS Foundation Trust (CNWL) provides local mental health services. Their Patient Support Service is a free service that can help resolve any problems you might have, whether you're a patient, carer or member of the public. 0300 013 4799 or feedback.cnwl@nhs.net

Adult Social Care

Harrow Council provides both adults and children's social care services and where applicable fund home care agency or a private residential care homes for residents. To complain, contact 0800 136 104 or complaints.adultsandchildrens@harrow.gov.uk

Help with complaining...

Advocacy 1st is an independent Complaints Advocacy Service - a free confidential service supporting people making, or thinking about making, a complaint about their NHS care or treatment in Harrow. Contact 020 3948 0559 or advocacy@harrowmencap.org.uk

For further information...

This guide was produced by Healthwatch Harrow. Healthwatch is the independent consumer champion for local health and social care services and we can assist if you require further information on complaining, on your rights, or on health and social care services generally. Contact us on 020 3432 2889 or info@healthwatchharrow.co.uk